A STORY ABOUT MANAGING ANGER

Parallax Press

NOTE: This storybook includes a read-aloud option which is accessible on Google and IOS devices. Learn how to actively listen with your eyes, ears, mouth, hands, arms, legs, and feet in another social learning adventure with Evan, Ellie, Molly, and Jesse in storybook 5 of the We Thinkers! Vol. 1 social emotional learning curriculum for ages 4-7. On their visit to the zoo, the children learn how whole body listening helps them stay connected to the person who is speaking and figure out what's happening around them. When they keep their eyes, mouth, arms, hands, legs, and feet calm and quiet as possible, it helps them learn and it makes the speaker, the curious animals, and everyone in the group feel good and comfortable because it shows others they are thinking about them. Continue building on this important social concept with the fundamental concepts taught in storybooks 6-10, which align with the corresponding teaching units within the related curriculum. Best practice: teach these concepts in order, starting with storybook 1 of 10 while using the corresponding curriculum.

Gabe must have gone to Ethan's little sister's room! She has been climbing out of bed every night to play, and obviously needs a monster to help her get to sleep - but not HIS monster! Ethan tries to help his sister find her own monster, but none are the perfect blend of cute and creepy. Just when it seems that Ethan will lose his monster forever, an uninvited, tutu-toting little monster full of frightening fun appears. Following in the spooky-silly tradition of I Need My Monster, here's another irresistible monster-under-the-bed story with the perfect balance of giggles and shivers.
