"Rios evokes the mysterious and unexpected forces that dwell inside the familiar."—The Washington Post "Rios delivers another stunning book of poems, rich in impeccable metaphors, that revel in the ordinariness of morning coffee and the crackle of thunderous desert storms. In one sonnet, Rios addresses injustice in the borderlands, capturing with mathematical precision the everyday struggles that many migrants face—"The border is an equation in search of an equals sign." A series of sonnets about desert flora abounds with fantastic, magical imagery—"Bougainvilleas do not bloom—they bleed" and 'Apricots are eggs laid in trees by invisible golden hens.' Likewise, Rios's bestiary sonnets overflow with inimitable similes, worthy of a book unto themselves—"Minnows are where a river's leg has fallen asleep" and 'Gnats are sneezes still flying around.' This robust volume is the perfect place to start for readers new to Rios and a prize for seasoned fans."—Booklist In his thirteenth book, Alberto Rios casts an intense desert light on the rich stories unfolding along the Mexico-US border. Peppered with Spanish and touches of magical realism, ordinary life and its simple props—morning showers, spilled birdseed, winter lemons—becomes an exploration of mortality and humanity, and the many possibilities of how lives might yet be lived. Mad Honey Made from magnificent rhododendron, poisonous rhododendron, Very difficult-to-pronounce rhododendron—whatever Rhododendron even is—I would have to look it up myself, This word sounding puffed up, peacocky with its Indianapolisly-long spelling, all those letters moving in and out. But the plant itself, the plant and the bees that find it: The bees see in its purple flower, first, a purple flower. They do not spell it. They do not live in fear of quizzes, Purple offering what it has to offer, unapologetic, without further Definition, purple irresistible to the artist's and to the bee's eye—Who can blame either one this first-grade impulse toward love? Purple, always wearing something low-cut . . . Alberto Rios is the Poet Laureate of Arizona and host of the PBS program Books & Co. He was a finalist for the National Book Award for his poetry volume The Smallest Muscle in the Human Body. He teaches at Arizona State University and lives in Chandler, Arizona.

12-year-old Blue's mom has always told her, "just bloom where you're planted." And it's a good motto, considering Mam never stays in one job or one place for very long. Then Mam gets hired as a hand at the 2 Bar Ranch, and for the first time, Blue finds in its rundown buildings and majestic mountain setting a place she longs to call home. There she makes a friend in an enigmatic Indian named Shawn, whose search for an ancient petroglyph intrigues her. And it's there that the faint auras Blue has always noticed around people begin to grow brighter-and become something she learns to control, and to heal with. But Mam begins to show signs of getting restless, and when the father who abandoned Blue suddenly shows up, the family-and the home-she's always wanted are threatened.

God, Jesus, Christ, and Jesus Christ are positive and loving names. Names that demand the highest regard of human respect our finite minds can conceive. These names should never be used as trash words. Yet, we trash them daily when we use The Name incorrectly in any unloving or unholy manner. This improper way of speech includes expressing pleasure while using their names in a common way; turning them into something so dirty, smelly or smashed, they are unrecognizable as the true deity they reveal. God is kept first in this book, anchored to the fact that His holy name should never be dishonored in any verbal or written form. Information is confirmed biblically and will help to clarify: Who the name of God is. What we are wrongly expressing by misusing His name. When it is appropriate to speak God's name. Where the irreverent offenses are taking place. How we are desecrating the holiness of His name. Why we should stop all profane references.

The story opens with tragedy on both sides of the world: in the USA, a US pilot by the name of Tyler is grief stricken by a tragic turn of events; in Iraq, Husna loses her husband and two young sons in a drone strike. Ironically, Tyler is a drone operator on Creech Airbase in Nevada, waking up with dreams of blood and gore as the psychological stresses of this 21st century killing mode takes its toll on his mental health. Husna, a beautiful woman, is on a mission of revenge: she sets off for the USA determined to kill as many Amerikanis as she can. She is chillingly clinical as she starts her killing spree in mainland America. At first, the police think they are searching for a serial killer. In a way, they are, but soon discover there is something extra about these gruesome murders. "She's a serial killer with attitude. She's also beautiful and dangerous. Fuelled by a consuming and bitter need for revenge she leaves Iraq for the USA. Her objective is simple: to kill as many Americans as she can!"

When Sky and her older sister Avril were taken into care, the social workers knew this was a case like no other. Raised by unHINGED parents who hoarded compulsively, creating horrific conditions no child should live in, the two girls arrived at foster carer Louise's home, neglected, malnourished, and indoctrinated. Louise had to draw on all of her experience as one of Britain's leading foster carers to rehabilitate and change the course of their lives. But with constant attempts to thwart her work, Louise ends up under siege in her own home. Will she succeed or is their fate sealed forever?

"The Dime Novel Kids are spunky, spirited, smart, sassy—and so is Sheila Turnage's writing. It sizzles and sparkles." —Lauren Wolk, author of Newbery Honor Book Wolf Hollow From the Newbery Honor-winning author of Three Times Lucky comes a middle grade WWII spy mystery with as much humor and heart as high stakes Twelve-year-old Stick Lawson lives on Hatteras Island, North Carolina, where life moves steady as the tides, and mysteries abound as long as you look really hard for them. Stick and her friends Rain and Neb are good at looking hard. They call themselves the Dime Novel Kids. And the only thing Stick wants more than a paying case for them to solve is the respect that comes with it. But on Hatteras, the tides are changing. World War II looms, curious newcomers have appeared on the small island, and in the waters off its shores, a wartime menace lurks that will upend Stick's life and those of everyone she loves. The Dimes are about to face more mysteries than they ever could have wished for, and risk more than they ever could have imagined. "Lift up your eyes" is a phrase urging believers to get into the habit of looking up to God. God have proved himself. When God wants us to make a U-turn and see a turnaround, he's going to ask us to lift up our eyes. This calling can come in form of a dream or a small still voice in prayer or by the constant visiting of an Angels in supernatural or humanly forms. Anytime God asked his servant to lift up their eyes, something spectacular was about to come to pass. God is asking us to lift up our eyes to reach for Heavenly things. Jesus came for us in person so that we might lift up our eyes and focus on extraordinary promise of God.

This collection of homilies represents the efforts of three preachers to interpret the lives of a community of faith and lead them deeper into the liturgy and life. It grows out of a vision of the homily as "a scriptural interpretation of human existence which enables a community to recognize God's active presence, to respond to that presence in faith through liturgical word and gesture, and, beyond the liturgical assembly, through a life lived in conformity with the Gospel." The first intent of Lift Up Your Hearts is to focus on homilies as acts of interpretation, in which: "the preacher does not so much attempt to explain the Scriptures as to interpret the human situation through the Scriptures." This book casts the homilist not so much as a teacher but as a "mediator of meaning"—speaking words that help the community to know itself and to act as the People of God, the Body of Christ, and the dwelling place of the Holy Spirit. In addition, these homilies are intended to move the parishioners toward the act of Eucharist, to giving praise and thanks here and now, and then beyond the Church doors, out into the world to take part in the mission of the Church. Pastors, priests, deacons, and anyone who preaches will find this collection of source material to be particularly useful in crafting homilies that are grounded in Holy Scripture and yet relevant and meaningful in today's world. Also, it is written for the churchgoer in search of a helpful reflection on the Sunday readings with the intent of connecting the biblical texts with life. +

Lift up Your Eyes Houghton Mifflin

#1 NATIONAL BESTSELLER • A passionate call to arms against our era's most pervasive human rights violation—the oppression of women and girls in the developing world. From the bestselling authors of Tightrope, two of our most fiercely moral voices With Pulitzer Prize winners Nicholas D. Kristof and Sheryl WuDunn as our guides, we undertake an odyssey through Africa and Asia to meet the extraordinary women struggling there, among them a Cambodian teenager sold into sex slavery and an Ethiopian woman who suffered devastating injuries in childbirth. Drawing on the breadth of their combined reporting experience, Kristof and WuDunn depict our world with anger, sadness, clarity, and, ultimately, hope. They show how a little help can transform the lives of women and girls abroad. That Cambodian girl eventually escaped from her brothel and, with assistance from an aid group, built a thriving retail business that supports her family. The Ethiopian woman had her injuries repaired and in time became a surgeon. A Zimbabwean mother of five, counseled to return to school, earned her doctorate and became an expert on AIDS. Through these stories, Kristof and WuDunn help us see that the key to economic progress lies in unleashing women's potential. They make clear how so many people have helped to do just that, and how we can each do our part. Throughout much of the world, the greatest unexploited economic resource is the female half of the population. Countries such as China have prospered precisely because they emancipated women and brought them into the formal economy. Unleashing that process globally is not only the right thing to do; it's also the best strategy for fighting poverty. Deeply felt, pragmatic, and inspirational, Half the Sky is essential reading for every global citizen.

Legends of Ma-ui—a demi god of Polynesia, and of his mother Hina Penguin

Lift Up the Sky! / Levanten el Cielo! is a nature-filled tale from local artist and retired parks worker, Barbara Dolan-Wilkinson about working together to accomplish great things. Four animals from around the world come together to solve the problem of a sky-too-low in need of fixing. Children and parents alike will enjoy the watercolor paintings that accompany this environmentally-minded picture book. For many years, Barbara Dolan-Wilkinson worked at the Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park where she found joy in leading children on nature hikes. She loved to watch their eyes sparkle as she taught them about the magic of the redwoods through her story, Lift Up the Sky! / Levanten el Cielo! Inspired by a Snohomish story she once heard at a storytelling festival, Dolan-Wilkinson crafted her tale in the tradition of all great oral narratives. In 2021, she put the story to watercolors an[1] [2] d this book is the result. In line with many other children's books published through The Press at Cal Poly Humboldt, Lift up the Sky! / Levanten el Cielo! is a bilingual publication. The Spanish translation has been lovingly crafted by Judy Dolan and Esteban Guevara. Included within Lift Up the Sky! / Levanten el Cielo! are pages and pages of facts and information about various types of redwood trees, along with resources to learn even more about the importance of redwoods. There is also a free, double-sided activities sheet filled with fun facts, coloring activities, and a redwood forest treasure hunt available to download and print from home.

Discover the secret of unlimited expansion and growth. "As you are connected internally to everyone else, when you change you, you change us all." Do you hear that sound? It's your soul calling you to live your highest and best life. As you tap into the highest and best version of your soul each and every day, you will find that you no longer need to make "changes." Instead, you will enter a natural state of expansion. As effortlessly as the Universe constantly expands, you will find yourself constantly growing and expanding every single day—without the struggle, stress, or suffering of constantly trying to change and fix yourself or others. Your only goal in this lifetime should be to keep envisioning a better version of you. You are a microcosm of a macrocosmic Universe. Just like the cells in your body multiply and amplify to create an adult version of you, your soul also expands and grows—both when you are in Spirit form in between lifetimes and in your creative dense environment here on earth. Change may seem scary to most. So you may "try on" the word "expansion" instead. The Power of 10, Reed's beloved spirit guides, share that when you are pushing yourself to do more and more and more, it probably doesn't feel good, because that is not the way our Universe expands. The Universe doesn't say (because it isn't a person with a mouth), "I want to be bigger and contain more space; therefore, I'm going to push into more and better." That would be silly. Your body doesn't say, "I'm going to push forward into a taller version of myself, and all my organs are going to adapt." It does it on its own, yes? Your body, your Universe, are always in a mode of expansion, why wouldn't your soul be the same way? Now the greater part of you, which is Spirit or Source energy or God or whatever you wish to call it, is already expansive to infinity. It may be difficult to imagine something that is not finite, that goes on and on and on, and yet The Power of 10 are here to tell us that this is indeed the case. Just like the Universe, YOU go on and on and on, as you are part of Spirit. "As you incrementally improve, so does the whole of humanity and the Universe." Keep Your Spirits Up: A Simple Guide to Lift Your Vibes Sky-high Without Struggle or Pain is the third book in an ongoing series of teachings by bestselling author Michelle Paisley Reed. It may be read in conjunction with the first two bestsellers, Manifesting Miracles and Money: How to Achieve Peace, Purpose, and Plenty Without Getting in Your Own Way and Peace is Power: A Course in Shifting Reality Through Science and Spirituality or as a stand-alone reading journey. You do not need to wait until the end of the book to see results. Each segment provides profound inspiration and a vibrational "boost" to magnetize dramatic transformation.

"Action-packed . . . he brings the reader artfully through the fog of war with clarity" (20th Century Aviation Magazine). Vietnam has often been called our "first helicopter war," and indeed, the US Marine Corps, as well as Army, had to feel its way forward during the initial combats. But by 1967, the combat was raging across South Vietnam, with confrontational battles against the NVA on a scale comparable to the great campaigns of WWII. In 1968, when the Communists launched their mammoth counteroffensive, the Marines were forced to fight on all sides, with the helicopter giving them the additional dimension that proved decisive in repelling the enemy. The author of this book, a Vietnam veteran and Purple Heart recipient who has also worked at the USMC History Division and National Museum of the Marine Corps in Quantico, uses his experiences as a company commander to bring the story to life by weaving personal accounts, after-action reports, and official documents into a compellingly readable narrative of service and sacrifice by Marine pilots and crewmen. The entire story of the war is depicted through the prism of Marine helicopter operations, from the first deployments to support the Army of the Republic of Vietnam against the Viet Cong through the rapid US buildup to stop the North Vietnamese Army, until the final withdrawal from our Embassy. "Superlative research." —Leatherneck
