Heir to a diverse array of traditions, the Indian subcontinent boasts customs that are distinguished by a constant juxtaposition of the ancient and the modern. The omnibus culture that has resulted from a rich history reflects an accommodation of ideas from across the globe and over time. This inviting narrative examines the tapestry of major events and beliefs that imbue everyday Indian life with vitality, and it presents the remarkable achievements in writing and the arts that have influenced individuals throughout the world.

A Thousand Lives Au Revoir

We are the sum of our memories. They influence how we perceive the world and aid in our ability to foresee future events. Researchers have been trying to figure out how memories are created, and then fixed for recall in the hours, days, or even years that follow for more than a century. However, it's possible that those scientists only saw a portion of the situation. Understanding how and why we forget is necessary in order to comprehend how and why we recall. "Retrospection" is a book of 40+ writers who have penned down their thoughts on retrospection and few other topics.

At the request of Himalaya, Ganga decided to flow in certain parts of Ekamra Kshetra (Bhubaneswar). By constantly carrying the fragrance of many scented flowers, the river is called as Gandhabati. Gandhabati, now-a-days called as gandha nala (a drain which stinks), has immense religious/mythological, ecological significance. Its association to various other tangible and intangible resources are also significant. But today this river/stream has been abandoned to a status of a drain. Rather than looking into historiography of a place, it is more relevant to look into the memory of the same. In this process one tries to see and understand various layers of time and its byproducts overlapped with different perceptions. In the case of this water stream, one can disintegrate its memory into natural system memory, mythological memory, associational memory and built memory. Once disintegrated, one can see overlaps of various attributes of memory in the form of diverse ranges of tangible and intangible heritage resources. This book is an attempt to map and document various tangible and intangible heritage resources associated to the Gandhabati stream. In the process the sacred cultural landscape of Ekamra Kshetra (Bhubaneswar) is understood.

Problem-Solving Strategies Salem Press

A unique collection of competition problems from over twenty major national and international mathematical competitions for high school students. Written for trainers and participants of contests of all levels up to the highest level, this will appeal to high school teachers conducting a mathematics club who need a range of simple to complex problems and to those instructors wishing to pose a "problem of the week", thus bringing a creative atmosphere into the classrooms. Equally, this is a must-have for individuals interested in solving difficult and challenging problems. Each chapter starts with typical examples illustrating the central concepts and is followed by a number of carefully selected problems and their solutions. Most of the solutions are complete, but some merely point to the road leading to the final solution. In addition to being a valuable resource of mathematical problems and solution strategies, this is the most complete training book on the market.

We can't choose not to fall in love with someone. We occasionally fall head over heels for someone, regardless of our social conditioning, education, or objectives. Many kinds of art and literature have been inspired by unrequited or unreciprocated love. As crucial as it is to not avoid interactions, one must always be aware of situations in which one feels undervalued. In unrequited love, it's critical to love oneself enough to prevent unhealthy coping methods. Unrequited love is when you love someone but they don't love you back. When your sentiments aren't returned, your thoughts and emotions can spiral out of control. "Unrequited Love" is a book full of acceptance, mourning, setting boundaries for oneself, self-love, one-sided love and the unreciprocated love, Street children can be considered as one of the by-products of the urbanisation process in developing countries. These children are to struggle very hard for their survival on the streets in very highly competitive environments, otherwise they fall prey to the public or even to their own parents also. Their childhood is seized, they are abused and their labour is greatly exploited for the benefit of others. In this book an attempt has been made to present a holistic profile of the street children of a growing urban city of Eastern India. Especially the prime thrust of the book concentrates on the aspects, like motive behind coming over to urban bases, educational and occupational profile of their parents and their family size, category and shelter of the street children, educational and occupational pattern of the street children, expenditure and savings, occupational hazards, use of earnings of these children by their parents, nourishment and addictive behaviour, health and hygiene, educational choice and future perspectives, attitudes of the public toward the street children etc. Apart from all these, the book also speaks about the pre and post-independence legislations on these children, UN's convention on rights of the child and National Plan of Action, State Plan of Action, welfare agencies working for the betterment of these children etc. Contents: Introduction, Profile of Bhubaneswar City, Family Milieu, Socio-Economic Profile of the Street Children, Struggle for Survival The Problems of Street Children, Legislation, Welfare Programmes and the Street Children, A Recipe for Development of Street Children, Summary and Conclusion.

We've fallen out of touch with friends and acquaintances. It may feel awkward, but you don't actually have to rekindle every relationship you once had. While people have known for years that friendships are unquestionably good for your health, it's only natural for acquaintances and even friends to fall by the wayside as time goes on – and it's nothing to feel guilty about. If you really do miss someone, you can always reach back out. But if you feel obliged, or like doing so is emotional labor, take that as a sign you can cut that person loose. "Au Revoir" is a book of writers from the world who wrote about their viewpoints and experiences of lost friendships and relationships.

Bioprocess Technology combines concepts and ideas from biology, engineering, materials science, and clinical processes. The industrial use of biological processes utilising living cells or their components to achieve desired substrate transformations is known as bioprocess technology. Bioprocesses provide several benefits over standard chemical processes, including the need for moderate reaction conditions, increased specificity and efficiency, and the production of renewable by-products (biomass). Bioprocesses' potential has been broadened and extended thanks to the introduction of recombinant DNA technology. Bioprocesses are now widely employed in a variety of commercial biotechnology disciplines, including the synthesis of enzymes (used in food processing and waste management, for example) and antibiotics. Bioprocesses may find applications in other sectors where chemical processes are now applied as methodologies and equipment improve. Many of biotechnology's potential applications are created through laboratory processes that yield very modest quantities of valuable chemicals. As bioprocess technology advances, particularly separation and purification techniques, commercial firms will be able to produce these substances in large quantities at a low cost, allowing them to be used in medical research, food processing, agriculture, pharmaceutical development, waste management, and a variety of other fields of science and industry.

India is a timeless land of dynamic change and huge diversity. The social and political evolution over the centuries has greatly enriched the Indian culture and has given rise to great traditions and heritage. Its glorious history tells the tales of its prosperity despite destruction due to invasion by outside forces. This prosperity shines all over India especially, in palaces, temples and in many other monuments. More spectacular are the ruins of ancient India, which are still surviving to eagerly tell their stories to the patient listeners. The beauty of the sculptures and temple architecture of India are unparalleled; so are its natural beauty and its wild life. This book presents the travel experience of a couple that visits India to rediscover and explore the glorious vistas of the bygone era. They attempt to unravel the marvels of ancient India by digging into the history, mythology and legends of every place they visit. This book is essentially a collection of travel stories presented in the fashion of a fiction, but with authentic facts and figures. Starting from the capital New Delhi and the exotic Himalayan towns of Haridwar and Hrishikesh, the travel continues to the colourful state of Orissa and then to the historical wonders and the magnificent sites of Karnataka and finally to the fascinating state of Tamil Nadu that gleams with vibrant spirituality around its countless temples. The reader will roam freely in the ruins, in the palaces and among the gorgeous temples with towering gopurams. The classic account of these travels allows the reader to stand up in a place where the present meets the past bridging time and space and surmounting all barriers, and to behold the most impressive evidence of the creative ability of the human mind.

Fifteen-year-old Maya and Arjun find their placid world suddenly overturned, when their favourite history teacher is found brutally murdered. The death shocks the students at the school and baffles the police. Meanwhile, a mysterious stranger's reappearance after 5000 years strikes fear into the hearts of powerful members of a secret society, called the Sangha. Who is he and what is he after? What secrets are Arjun's uncle and mother hiding and why do they inexplicably decide to leave town for an unknown destination? What is The Pataal Prophecy, that must be decoded even as the world hurtles towards a fate that may doom humanity? In a race against time, Arjun and Maya must join forces with the Sangha to face an ageless and terrible enemy from the depths of Pataal. But can they overcome an ancient power that is out to wreak vengeance? After The Mahabharata Quest series, bestselling author Christopher C Doyle creates a world of fantasy and adventure, in which mythology, action and suspense come together to weave a thriller that will keep you spellbound till the very end.

Dreams are essential. There will be no desire to pursue without dreams. There will be no objective to achieve. Without dreams, we'd all be nothing. It's like pursuing an invisible shadow if you don't have any dreams. It's a merry-go-round. We need to know what we want to do and then go after it. We can't do anything in life until we have objectives, and in order to achieve these goals, we must dream. The majority of people have dreams. It doesn't matter if they're big or small. Even the most successful people have dreams, and it is their dreams that have propelled them to where they are now. A human being's ability to dream is critical. You will lose interest in life and eventually despise it if you do not have dreams. You will become bored and tired of the same repetitive daily routines, and you will lose interest in even the most thrilling things. Only via dreams will you discover a reason to live your life. You'll begin to work hard toward your goal and never lose interest in life.
