Beginning with those who reached or were born in the New World, explore to the starting points in their or their family's immigrations from the Old Country and beyond to the Germanic roots of these 3 family branches! This book, Volume I, starts with William Frederick Lynn – born in Indiana in 1882 and resided as well in Texas and Oklahoma throughout his life. Using this pedigree format, the researcher can then work back in time to the known origination of these Lynn/Linn ancestors. Nine generations are included in this volume that spans over 3 centuries. All books in this series provide extensive information about ancestors from personal data (name, gender, birth & death dates and places, religious affiliation and even occupations if known) to timelines with the ancestor's life events – often authenticated with transcripts from original records. As well, there is some information provided about their families along with pedigree charts for most ancestors and relationship charts between the starting ancestor and all other ancestors included. For ancestors to whom it applies, a DNA Confirmation section presents known AncestryDNA® matches and gives details about which children passed this DNA to descendants who match to the ancestor they have in common. This can include several generations of offspring from a particular ancestor. Note: The internal links are disabled in this online version and cross-referencing is unavailable. Annotation While this monograph is not about show dogs or cats, its statistical methods could be applied to tracing the pedigree of these species as well as humans. Thompson (U. of Washington) covers such topics as genetic models, population allele frequencies, kinship/inbreeding coefficients, and Monte Carlo estimation. Includes supporting tables and figures. Suitable as a supplementary text or primary text for advanced students. Lacks an index. c. Book News Inc.

The book answers the questions of how and where America educates its leading chief executive officers. Where are America's top executives educated? What do they study? Do they typically attend the nation's most elite colleges? Or do they, like millions of other students, choose colleges because of reasons like proximity, cost, and state pride? How important are advanced degrees to their success? Is the MBA a prerequisite for becoming a CEO? I address these questions based on a study of 344 of the country's highest profile CEOs selected to represent a wide range of organizations and businesses. The book will establish a theme that the majority of America's most high-powered CEOs did not attend elite colleges/universities or earn an MBA or graduate from highly selective institutions. Certainly, a significant number did so and were advantaged by the opportunity, but more often they were able to fashion for themselves a high-quality education at a rich array of institutions - public and private, regional and flagship, small and large, religious and secular. What proves more important than what colleges these leading executives attended, is the kinds of deep relationships and mentored experiences they developed. I illuminate these experiences through several vignettes in each chapter.

This is a guide to approximately 2,000 pedigrees as listed in over 7,000 sources of information. The arrangement of the text is alphabetical by family name, the entries providing, in each instance, the exact reference to the books and periodicals wherein the pedigree is found. This widely used reference can save the researcher many valuable hours in his investigations.

Herbert Summers Lloyd MBE, (April 1, 1887 – January 26, 1963), known commonly as H. S. Lloyd, was best known for being a breeder of show English Cocker Spaniels. He remains the most successful breeder/owner at Crufts, having won Best in Show on six occasions in the 1930s and 1940s. This monograph on the breed has been written at the request of many friends who have urged me to endeavour to place before the novice and newcomer to the breed a simply-written book dealing with the subject from a practical standpoint. I make no claims to any literary genius, but the information contained herein has been gathered through a lifetime's experience of the dog I love. It is my sincere hope that this volume may prove of some assistance, and if it gives as much pleasure to the reader as it did to me in its compilation I am amply rewarded.
