consumption, with a special emphasis on the Indian context. Chapters are written by researchers and industry professionals working in the field of natural gas and energy to provide deeper insights into natural gas market structure, market development, business opportunities and market growth. Topics covered include, natural gas demand-supply, exploration and production policy, downstream regulatory developments, city gas distribution, pipeline, pricing, and taxation policies impacting natural gas market developments in India. The book will be useful to researchers, professionals, and policy makers working in the area of natural gas and related fields. Southwest Contractor and Manufacturer Columbia

This study analyzes the use of second price theory as it pertains to competitive Government contracting. Second price theory, which was originally introduced by William Vickery in 1961, entails awarding the lowest responsible and responsive bidder in a sealed bid competition a Firm-Fixed Price (FFP) type contract, where the award price is set at the second lowest bidder's bid price. This study first defines the Second Price Sealed Bid (SPSB) method, a variant of second pricing, and provides the theoretical advantages for its applications in Government contracting. Following this, the thesis presents two sets of experimentation on which identify bidding behavior when the SPSB method is applied in Government contracting. The study then discusses and analyzes survey responses received from both Government and private industry contracting professionals concerning the applicability of the SPSB method in Government contracting.

THE COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL CHRONICLE

Since the 1979 revolution, scholars and policy makers alike have tended to see Iranian political actors as religiously driven—dedicated to overturning the international order in line with a theologically prescribed outlook. This provocative book argues that such views have the link between religious ideology and political order in Iran backwards. Religious Statecraft examines the politics of Islam, rather than political Islam, to achieve a new understanding of Iranian politics and its ideological contradictions. Mohammad Ayatollahi Tabaar traces half a century of shifting Islamist doctrines against the backdrop of Iran's factional and international politics, demonstrating that religious narratives in Iran can change rapidly, frequently, and dramatically in accordance with elites' threat perceptions. He argues that the Islamists' gambit to capture the state depended on attaining a monopoly over the use of religious narratives. Tabaar explains how competing political actors strategically develop and deploy Shi'a-inspired ideologies to gain credibility, constrain political rivals, and raise mass support. He also challenges readers to rethink conventional wisdom regarding the revolution, Ayatollah Khomeini, the U.S. embassy hostage crisis, the Iran-Iraq War, the Green Movement, nuclear politics, and U.S.-Iran relations. Based on a micro-level analysis of postrevolutionary Iranian media and recently declassified documents as well as theological journals and political memoirs, Religious Statecraft constructs a new picture of Iranian politics in which power drives Islamist ideology.
