American social history. American Exodus: The Dust Bowl Migration and Okie Culture ... The Dust Bowl exodus was the largest migration in American history within a short period of time. Between 1930 and 1940, approximately 3.5 million people moved out of the Plains states; of those, it is unknown how many moved to California. In just over a year, over 86,000 people migrated to California. Dust Bowl - Wikipedia Memorialized in John Steinbeck's "The Grapes of Wrath", the Dust Bowl migration plays an important part in the collective memory of the Great Depression in America. This is the story of the more than one million Oklahomans, Arkansans, Texans, and Missourians who settled in California during the economically depressed 1930s and the war-boom 1940s. Not just a conventional account of hardship and economic recovery, this is finely screened cultural exploration that brings to light the migrant's ...
