FasTrain Florida Civil Trial Preparation is designed to guide the attorney through all phases of trial preparation, from interviewing the client to preparing the closing argument and jury instructions. Details regarding trial notebooks, pretrial motions, discovery, and evidentiary issues are provided to help the attorney focus and advance the case, and settlement options are explored as a prudent alternative to trial. Each phase of preparation is individually covered, and thoroughly cross-referenced. Ervin Gonzalez, an outstanding, nationally recognized trial attorney, generously shares his valuable practice strategies and guidance in this thorough, easily digestible manual. Highlights of this edition include recent rule amendments addressing: • case management conference requirements; • electronic filing of pleadings; • electronic service of pleadings and documents; and • computation of time. Additionally, new articles and case law are discussed addressing issues such as: • disqualification of judges; • discovery of electronically stored information and privileged information; • remedies for failure to comply with discovery orders; • motions for summary judgment and responses thereto; and • exceptions to the right of voluntary dismissal.

To help advance your case smoothly and efficiently, the Florida Practitioner's Guide®: Civil Trial Preparation provides detailed coverage of trial notebooks, pretrial motions, discovery, and evidentiary issues. Settlement options are also explored in detail as an alternate to trial. In addition to addressing amended rules, revised statutes, and new case law, the Tenth edition provides updated forms and coverage of the following hot topics: COVID-19 pandemic's impact on trials and depositions Current judicial split over the award of punitive damages and express or affirmative findings Award of attorneys' fees and requests for admission that would resolve the ultimate issues, if admitted, versus requests for admissions that go to establishing a relevant fact Florida courts' recent holding that an order granting a motion to sever is not an appealable nonfinal order Court-ordered, nonbinding arbitration and the recent determination that a "request for a trial de novo," has the same meaning as a "motion for trial" liability. It is written from the perspective of a ten-year police veteran - written by a cop for cops. It will help the average cop understand and cope with a frightening area of today's society, as well as help current and future police administrators understand how to deal with civil liability. Today's police officer is twenty times more likely to be sued than to be shot. Yet, the average police officer has received a hundred times more training on fire arms use than in learning how to protect oneself from the civil lawsuit. With the number of lawsuits against individual officers and departments on the rise, we can no longer ignore the need to educate ourselves against the threat of civil liability. This book acts as a road map of basic training to find the way through the labyrinth of our civil justice system. No other book attacks the problem of understanding the growing theories of police civil liability. Whether used in a college classroom, academy, or personal library, this is must reading for every police officer working today. Those who arm themselves in this knowledge area can survive the horrendous attacks by money-hungry litigants and will be better prepared to lead the law enforcement community into the next century.
