Mindful visitors will also have a greater appreciation and understanding of a site, and such understanding can provide both support for changing their behaviors on site and for the conservation of the site. Mindful visitors: Heritage and tourism - ScienceDirect When it comes to making mindful decisions, it's important to put them in perspective. This means that you need to weigh all sides of any given situation to gain a sense of clarity. To better explain this concept, I'm going to use an analogy that I've used before. Imagine standing in a circle with a group of people. 4 Steps to Making Mindful Decisions - William R Marchand MD abandon your principles and values. It does not mean you have to be resigned to tolerating things. It does not mean that you should stop trying to break free of your own self-destructive habits or give up your desire to change and grow. • Acceptance is a willingness to see things as they are.
