It is written in the first-person, from the viewpoint of a Native American teenager who calls himself Zits, "a time traveling mass murderer." Zits is a foster child, having spent the majority of his life moving from one negative or abusive family experience to another. Flight (novel) - Wikipedia Sherman Alexie is a profoundly beautiful writer who creates images and stories that speak directly to the heart. He bravely chronicles the challenges that face America as a whole, NOT just the plastic USA that is presented and promoted all over the world. This book left me stunned, grateful, humbled and angry.
