La información es, hoy en día, un elemento esencial en la toma de decisiones por parte de los grupos de poder. Las tecnologías que la hacen posible forman un conglomerado de conceptos y de términos, la mayoría de ellos originalmente en inglés. Aunque lo verdaderamente significativo de las nuevas tecnologías es que se hallan siempre en constante evolución. En los inicios del siglo XXI, en los que nos encontramos, resulta evidente que estamos inmersos en una tercera revolución: la de la tecnología de la comunicación y la de Internet. Y todos sabemos que el conocimiento de esta tecnología resulta irrenunciable, no sólo en el puesto de trabajo, sino en el ocio, en la calle y en el hogar. A lo largo del texto, descubriremos el cúmulo de conceptos y términos que conforman el universo de las tecnologías de la información y de la comunicación (TICs). Tanto los más elementales como los más complejos. Así, el lector podrá recorrer desde los componentes físicos del propio ordenador, junto con el sistema operativo, el software de producción, las redes de comunicación, Internet, los sistemas de información, la producción del propio software, etc., hasta las consideraciones éticas derivadas de todo el proceso de cambio que conlleva la revolución actual, además de un análisis de las principales salidas laborales derivadas de las TICs. Pero el libro quiere ir más allá, como se manifiesta desde el primer capítulo, “La era tecnológica”. Quiere analizar el enorme impacto de Internet y de la realidad virtual en nuestras vidas, aventurar el futuro que nos espera a la luz de los últimos avances tecnológicos y, en suma, profundizar en los cambios drásticos que nuestra sociedad y nuestros modos de vida experimentarán en los próximos años. Cambios que, de hecho, estamos experimentando ya.

The lives of people with disabilities are complex and various, and there are many situations where technology – particularly assistive technology – already makes a real difference. It is clear that smart phone and tablet computer based solutions continue to enhance the independence of many users, but it is also important that more traditional assistive technologies and services are not forgotten or neglected. This book presents the proceedings of the 14th conference of the Association for the Advancement of Assistive Technology in Europe (AAATE 2017) entitled: ‘Harnessing the power of technology to improve lives’, held in Sheffield, UK, in September 2017. This 4-day event about assistive technologies (AT) highlights the association’s interest in innovating not only technology, but also services, and addresses the global challenge of meeting the needs of the increasing number of people who could benefit from assistive technology. The 200+ papers in the book are grouped under 30 subject headings, and include contributions on a wide range of topical subjects, including aging well and dementia; care robotics; eHealth and apps; innovations; universal design; sport; and disordered speech. The breadth of the AAATE conference reflects people’s life needs and so the book is sure to contain something of interest to all those whose work involves the design, development and use of assistive technology, whatever the situation. The photo on the front cover illustrates the breadth of assistive technologies that can improve lives. Photographer: Simon Butler.
