volume official British History of the Second World War covering the Mediterranean and Middle Eastern theatres. After setting the political and military scene, the authors open the action with Italy's declaration of war and France's collapse in June 1940. Britain's painful neutralisation of the French fleet at Oran and Alexandria is followed by the first blows against the Italian empire in East Africa, and Italy's attacks on Egypt and Greece. The Fleet Air Arm's triumphant attack on the Italian Fleet at Taranto, masterminded by Admiral Cunningham, is trumped by General Wavell's even more successful Battle of Sidi Barrani in December, when vast numbers of Italians were captured for negligible British losses. The victory was followed up by Britain's capture of Bardia and Tobruk, and the founding of the Long Range Desert Group - the germ of the SAS. The mopping-up of General Graziani's forces in Cyrenaica, however, ominously resulted in Germany's decision to rescue their ally with General Rommel's Afrika Korps. However, the volume concludes optimistically with the successful campaign against Italy in Ethiopia, in which General Orde Wingate's irregular Gideon Force plays a prominent part. The military narrative is accompanied by descriptions of diplomatic developments and technological innovations such as the arrival of the Hurricane fighter plane, the Matilda tank and radar. The text is accompanied by ten appendices, 30 maps and diagrams and 43 photographs.

The Mediterranean Theater of Operations: Sicily and the Surrender of Italy (Paperback) Praeger

Six students of metropolitan development present a reappraisal and fresh approaches to the analysis of urban systems. Drawing on economics, sociology, political science, geography, and city planning, they reconceptualize urban structure and function, refocusing attention from the forms of population density to the processes of human interaction.

Explorations Into Urban Structure

"Roosevelt and Hopkins is the classic account of FDR's foreign policy during World War II and how Harry Hopkins, his friend and closest confidant, became the President's "point man" with Stalin, Churchill and other allied leaders. It is also the inside history of America's inevitable wartime rise as a great power, written in a clear and readable style by White House speechwriter and playwright Robert Sherwood."--BOOK JACKET. MY THREE YEARS WITH EISENHOWER

Creating an effective policy for cycling is an essential part of developing a sustainable transport strategy and is becoming an increasingly important part of urban planning. Successful cycling planning depends on combining improvements to infrastructure with education about the benefits of increasing cycle usage. Drawing on a wealth of international examples, with a wide range of contributions from America, Australia, and Europe, Planning for Cycling sums up many of the lessons learned and shows how they can be applied in improving urban planning. The book examines national strategies and local initiatives in cities around the world. It includes topics such as the creation of 'homezones', changes to existing road and rail infrastructure, and the integration of cycling with public transport. The author highlights education as a critical element in cycling planning and covers the promotion of bicycling and developing healthy travel habits in the young. He looks at the complex relationship between cars and cycling and discusses how roads can be successfully shared between these two modes of transport. With its blend of practical experience and suggestions for effective implementation, Planning for Cycling is essential reading for urban planners, architects, local and national planning officers, environmental groups and students of environmental sciences.

Principles, Practice, and Solutions for Urban Planners

Taken together, the documents portray Eisenhower as a forceful leader who faced truly vexing domestic and cold war problems and handled them with great skill and a fundamental sense of decency.
